Foreword

That in the future you may with pleasure and satisfaction recall the events of the year
Nineteen Hundred Twenty-Nine,
we have endeavored to set forth in this fourth volume of
"The Leonia Lore"
all that will serve to remind you of high school days.

To

CARL WILLIAM SUTER

Whose untiring efforts in behalf of the students of Leonia High School have won for him the respect and admiration of all, we gratefully and respectfully dedicate this fourth issue of

THE LEONIA LORE

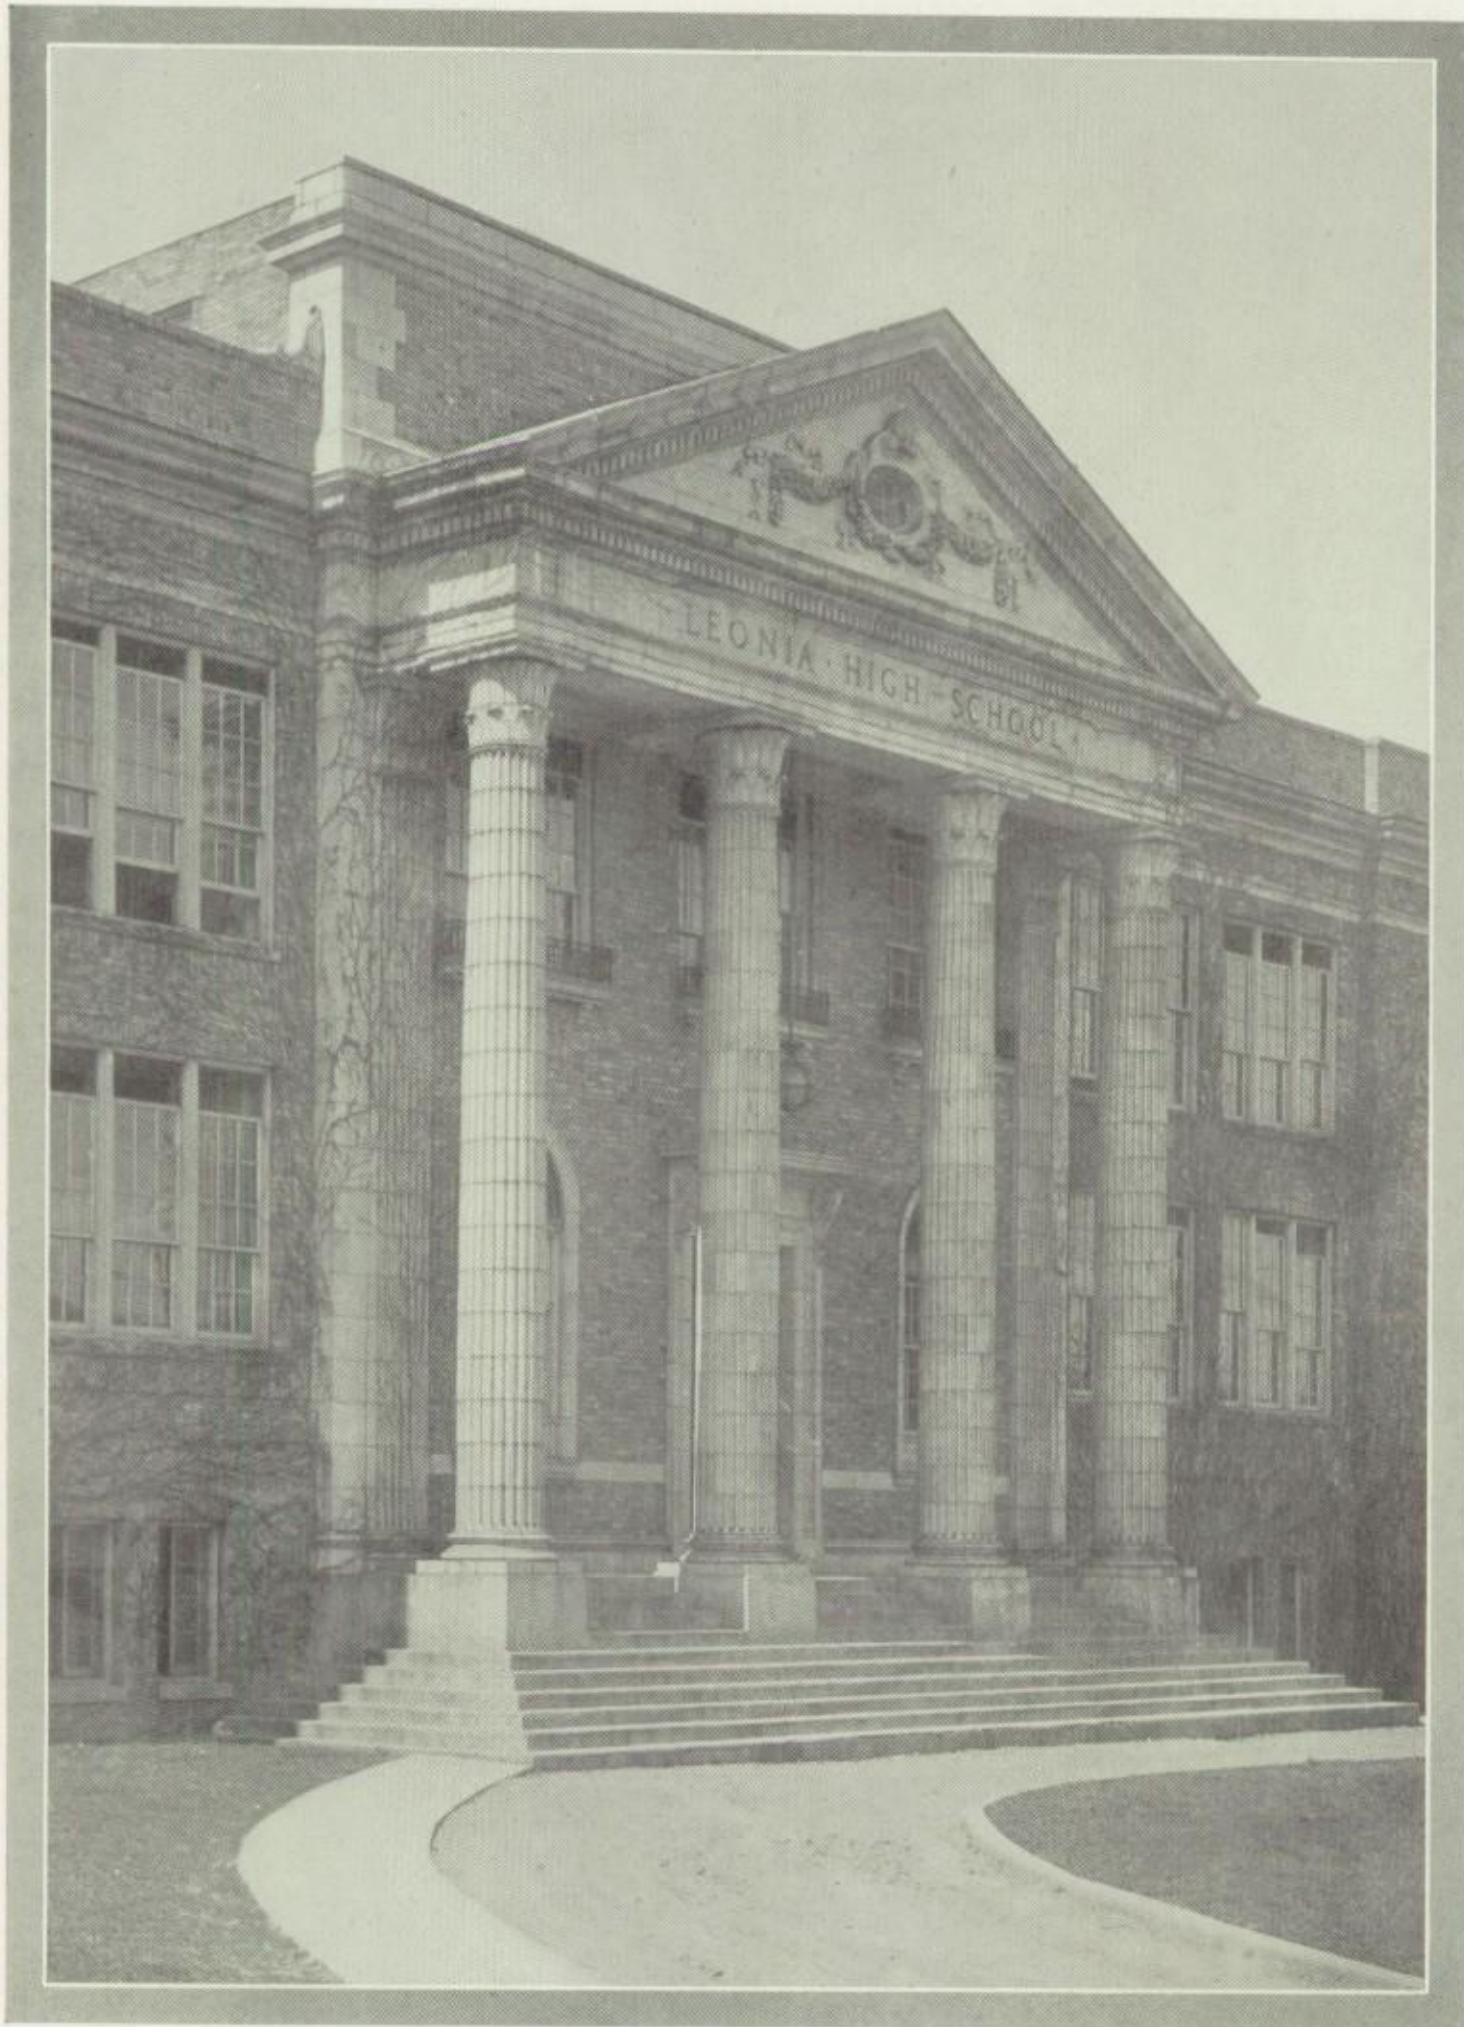

THE SIDE ENTRANCE

THE FRONT ENTRANCE

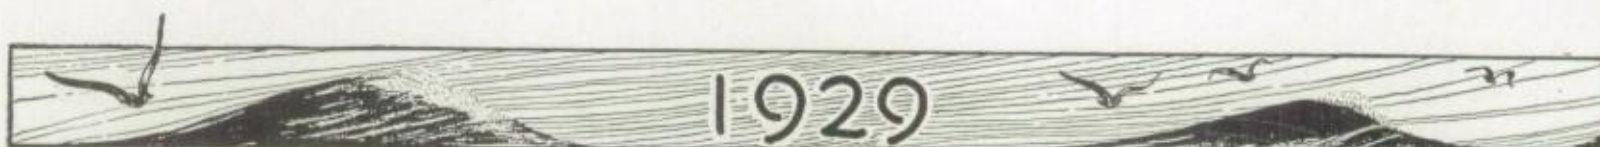

TO ALMA MATER

Alma Mater, give us courage
As we leave your sheltering arms;
Give our hearts a brave, high courage,
As we breast the world's alarms!

We have given you full allegiance,
Been loyal in all we've had to do;
Whatever you may say about us,
You can't deny we've been true blue!

Four long years we've travelled with you,
Stuck to you through thick and thin;
Now we're plunging into battle—
Alma Mater, help us win!

Helen Fisher.

CLASS SONG
FOR
CLASS OF TWENTY-NINE

To be sung to the tune of, "Fight, Illini."

Leonia High, we sing to you
Our farewell song of praise,
For we all must leave you now
And go our many ways;
But we shall not forget you,
For we have loved you well;
On our varied paths from you
We'll all try to excel.

Now we leave your halls forever, L. H. S.
Marching onward, forward, to our lives' success,
Ever striving nearer to our goals so high, so fair,
Oh Leonia, this we know that life will not be easy;
Some may have to struggle hard to prove their worth
Some may rise to fame renowned throughout the earth,
But we hope to make you proud as we are proud of you;
L. H. S., we'll be true!
We'll be true to you forever, L. H. S.!

THE HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '29

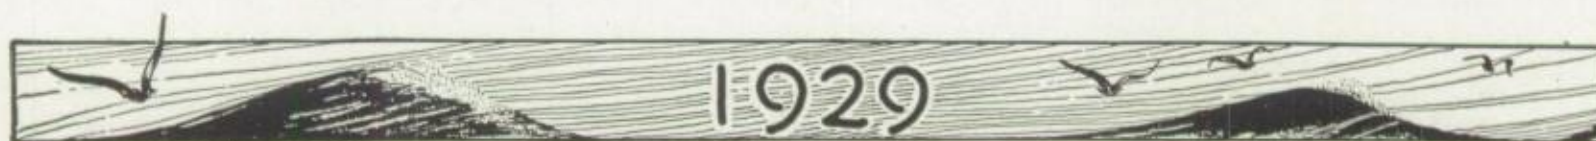

The good old ship of "29" with all of its valiant crew,
Sailed forth upon a four year voyage searching for knowledge new.
Although some trials came and left us in despair,
Captain Steenland steered us on through all the hardships there.
With our first mate Phelps to aid her, she succeeded well,
And future plans for making merry, they to us did tell.
There upon that sea of knowledge the Freshman party came;
Upper classmen snubbed us, but we made merry just the same.
All our carefree days soon left us, for finals came in sight;
Worried now, we asked each other, "Will we come out all right?"

On our second year of sailing,—we were Sophomores now;
Oh, we scared the little Freshmen; we made them weep,—and how!
Now Bill Pollok was our leader through the storm and strife.
A few of us at once began to lead an easy life,
While others pitched in headforemost to make their marks go up.
This same year our great Debate Team got the silver cup.
And now, in the oral book reports Helen Phelps had won,
And a snappy afternoon dance added to our fun.
But we soon became quite worried for exams were very near;
So working hard we ended a most eventful year.

Now, we were quite far advanced, for Juniors we became,
And gazed upon all lower classmen with a very great disdain.
Before the Easter time arrived, we picked out our class rings,
The Junior-Senior came around, plus many other things,
Before quite half the year was up, the Oratorical came,
In which Evelyn Diner took a part and won for us much fame.
And so we sailed farther on; the sea was getting rough;
Of all this very happy life we now had quite enough;
For if, as we had often dreamed, Seniors we would be,
We must indeed upon our chart much better weather see.

Captain Bailey took the place of Pollok the year before.
Thoughtfully we looked ahead for what fate had in store;
A busy year in front of us we could quite clearly see.
The Senior-Junior Dance was here and welcomed in high glee.
First "The Youngest" was put o'er with great success, you know;
The cast with Bailey at the head its skill to all did show.
The oral book report was won, by Helen Phelps again.
Leonie Lore went through the hands of many able men.
Then our ship well laden down with knowledge we had sought,
Was steered by our brave Captain into Graduation Port.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

ONE windy morning in March 1954, I started from the Chapman Airport in Teterboro, New Jersey, for California where I was to embark for an extended tour around the world. My Pilot Roy Emptage, was found asleep in the cockpit of the plane. First we taxied from the hangar over to Bailey's Gas and Air Station. Here I found Mary Besch selling hot dogs at one dollar per dog, and I thought of the good old days when one could buy a hot dog for ten cents at the Senior Sport Dances. There was a long line waiting, and at the head of it was Sloppy Weil purchasing one almost as large as himself.

I jumped into my plane, waving gaily to Harold Jillson who was engaged in putting on the landing gear of a plane in the process of construction. Roy reminded me that Ralph Dalnodar had recently invented this wheel which requires no Cotter's pin to make it secure.

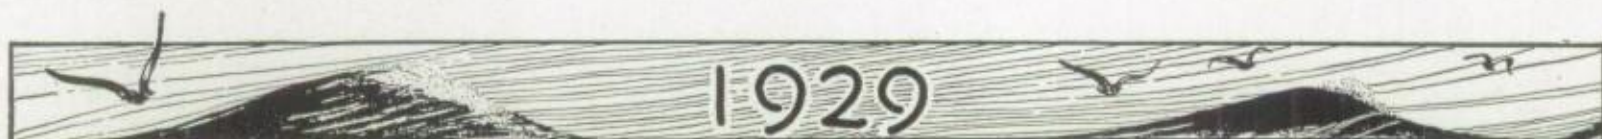

The pilot stepped on the self-starter, the propeller spun around, and we started down the field to a perfect take-off. Flying over the notorious Jester Cafeteria, I perceived a heretofore unobserved sign advertising Anna Knobloch's "hair tonic" guaranteed to grow curls overnight on bald-headed men.

I picked up a newspaper lying on the seat beside me. It turned out to be the "Breakfast Bunk," edited by Cecelia Nobel and published by—who'd have thought it?—the Braendal Brothers' Publishing Co.

Casually turning over the pages, I noted to my amazement a headline which stated that Harold Wurth, wireless operator of the "Paradise," a Schlenvoigt liner, had surprised the passengers by discovering a stowaway, who proved to be none other than Truck Miller, an ex-convict of Sing-Sing. Among the persons most shocked by this startling disclosure were Mr. and Mrs. Gismond—nee Ross—who were passengers on the boat, and who reluctantly identified the stowaway. Miller would do that!!

A queer sensation of descent and a slight jar told me that we had landed. I stepped out of the plane and enjoyed the welcome sight of Chicago. My first objective was a restaurant and some food.

I hailed a cab and was surprised to find that it was driven by our noted Scotchman, Elliott MacDonald. We passed rapidly by the Madison Avenue Cathedral designed by William Pollok, the famous architect, and drew up under the magnificent porte-cochere of the new "Blanchefleur" tea room of which Rachel Hixson and Louise Macalister were the successful proprietors. The ladies, it seemed, were in conference with the head waitresses, Katherine Burkhart and Melba Reinecke, and just couldn't see me that afternoon. After the delightful luncheon, I left to go back to the plane. Something told me, however, that I should be glad of some refreshment on our long afternoon flight; so I stepped into the first delicatessen I saw. There, to my amazement, I perceived Carolyn Potter, who with the aid of a microscope was counting the bacteria in some bologna. Hearing a familiar voice behind me, I wheeled about again to look into the face of Elsie Rapp, proprietor of the store. Immediately, we began to recollect old times, and Elsie, it appeared, had a seemingly boundless knowledge of the whereabouts of many of our old acquaintances. A few days ago, she had unexpectedly encountered Elizabeth Eastwood and Esther Swenson who, as officers of the Ladies' Aid, had tried to interest her in a plan to raise money for a new carpet for the church. Robert Starr, having finally passed the blindfold test for "Old Golds," had moved to the city of Chicago where he lost no time in paying a visit to Elsie and her associate proprietor, Ernestine Liegeois. "Peewee" was congratulating himself upon having consummated a marriage by contract with his pal "Smitho". He said the last time he had seen George Kopf he was holding down a position as shoe salesman in the women's department of Kahn's New York stores. (And I had always thought Georgie was girl-shy!)

Elsie told me that she had recently received a letter from Etta Bower who is in England painting a portrait of the king. The letter disclosed "Sal" Perline and Wayne Skelton were the proprietors of a notorious night club which had been raided a few nights before by a band of London "Bobbies," among whom were Munsberg and Ames.

After bidding Elsie good-bye, I left for the flying field. On my way I passed "Childs" and recognized Rosalind McCarthy and Marion Gobbler as the pan-cake flippers. On the corner stood "Claire" Mustermann, a demure Salvation Army lass. She informed me that Kay Kelts has settled down to married life with Howard Kraus, the chief street cleaner of Palisades Park, who at last has been subdued by her nagging.

All of a sudden, I realized that the plane was to leave in five minutes. I jumped into a taxi and dashed to the field. The engine of the plane was roaring, and soon we were off. As I turned around to look at my neighbors, I saw George Griffithes, deeply engrossed in a book by Helen Fisher entitled "The Few Things I Have Not Done." He said that he was on his way to Reno to obtain a divorce from Evelyn Diner on the grounds of incompatibility. He named Harold McDonald as co-respondent. I asked George if he had heard anything about our old classmates. He told me that Helen Phelps had reached the top; she was scrubbing the roof of the Woolworth Building. Colonel Jack Warren and his valiant company of Marines, armed with Flit, were campaigning in Panama against the mosquitoes. Martha Sigley was the leading prima donna at the Park Lane Theatre of Palisades Park, and was introducing Ethyl Gismond's latest song hit, "When the Ants Get Into the Syrup, Add Ink and Call It Molasses." Midge Appleby was in Boston, a bachelor girl, directing a cultured school for young ladies. Ellsworth Lewis was in Russia, conducting a school on the subject, "The Dramatic Art of Raising the Eyebrows Correctly."

All of a sudden the plane crashed to the ground. George and I crawled out of the wreckage and were much relieved to find ourselves unhurt. Before we could even get to our feet, we saw three vehicles racing up; out of one leaped a woman who introduced herself as Elizabeth Ramm, lawyer, who tried to persuade us to sue the company. Out of an ambulance leaped Catherine McGee, a nurse, and Dr. Hettenbach who began to drag victims out of the wreckage. Tagging at their heels was a very anxious man, Fred Westervelt, who showed his undertaker's license. He was very unhappy when he learned no one was killed, but optimistically followed the ambulance to the hospital.

Another plane wouldn't be ready until the next morning; so we hurried to the railroad station and inquired about train schedules. We recognized the girl behind the bars as Essie Mather who told us an express left in an hour. We secured our tickets, and I hurried to the station beauty parlor to get my hair dressed. I recognized the chic "Lettie" Harper as the hair dresser, although to my surprise she had slick brunette locks. She told me that she used "Fraser's Anti-Kink and Dye, Combined." As the manicurist, whom I recognized as Ruth Brown, tended my nails, she told me that her friend, Eve Feingold, was a private secretary for the wealthy lounge-lizard, William Lavac, who made his pile by floating fraudulent bonds. Ruth also told me that Judge Pasquale Celani had just declared Leo Jagendorf and Howard Harms guilty of stealing traffic stop signs. The case for the defense was ably pleaded by the famous criminal lawyer, Nina Rosenberg.

I looked at my watch and found that I had just three minutes in which to catch the train. As I rushed by, someone grabbed my bag and, turning angrily around, I saw William Hall, a red-cap. I got to the train and found that George was waiting impatiently for me. A few minutes after we had started, Joseph Vietro came through the train, selling newspapers and candy. About six o'clock we went into the diner. There we found that the waitress was none other than Muriel Cohill who showed us a table at which sat Betty Baur, a wealthy secretary to the former Wall Street broker, William Marion. "Why, hello, Betty, where have you been keeping yourself? I've met and heard of so many of our classmates today. I wonder if you know about any."

"Why, yes, Anna Steenland is now posing for the Palmolive Soap Company, sitting down, her hand on her left hip, of course. Olga Poraske has just made her debut as Rosalinde in "Eitel," a German opera, written by Anna Schumacher. Beatrice Carson has opened a new cooking school in Cliffside where women go to learn the technique of can opening. Virginia Johnston has just opened a day nursery on Fifth Avenue where Mary Wagner is head nurse. I guess that's all I've heard about the class. What have you heard?"

George and I told her what we knew about our friends, and our conversation continued until the train stopped at Oklahoma City. Here many passengers got on, among whom was the notorious long-haired bandit, Janette Dabrowski. Just as the train was pulling out, Raymond Zweil, the sheriff of the city, and his faithful posse escorted the bandit off the train. In the posse we recognized Maude Williams, his secretary, and Gertrude Wagner, keeper of the handcuffs.

As we proceeded through the desert, we espied Margaret Botyos at the head of a party of surveyors who were blazing the way for the Parsons irrigation project. Our next stop was at Reno. Here George left us, and we wished him good luck in his divorce case. On the platform, we noticed Harry Mather painting a bill-board with a garish advertisement which told us that Madison Hyde and Mayda Gill were opening a sport shop in that city.

Then we went on to San Francisco. There we met Noyes Lincoln who was still trying to break into society. We went to "The Yellow Cat," a high-class night club operated by Arlyn Opitz and Armando Grez. There we saw Edith Metcalfe and Madeleine Diaz doing an Apache dance. Mabel Davis was among the guests. We noticed the wildly gesticulating leader of the orchestra was Gladys Friedman. As we were leaving, whom did we see juggling hat checks but Agnes Ness!

The next morning we went down to the pier. On the way we met Carol Blanpied who was setting out for China to teach the Chinese French Sarcasm. Of course, I was glad to meet one of my old classmates who was sailing on the same boat as I. Carol and I began to recall old times, and she told me that Paula Fales had become a famous interior decorator and had recently opened a studio in which Edith Canfield was an ardent student. Alice Farwell had changed her career and was over in Africa teaching the new modes of hairdressing to the Africans. The last time Carol had seen Anna Fratinardo she was a model in Franklin Simon's where Geraldine Beyea was one of the sales-clerks. Mary Gannon had taken up nursing and seemed to like it very much. Mildred Rottman was the cover designer of Seidel's famous Art Magazine of which Ruth Peters was associate editor.

Plowing our way through the throng on the pier, we walked up the gang plank and bumped into our friend, Fay Sachs, looking in a bewildered fashion about her for the porter who had her bags. When a brief inspection of our temporary home showed us Ruth Gross as ship's librarian, Carol, Fay, and I settled back comfortably in our steamer chairs assured that our voyage would be a most enjoyable and successful one.

CLASS WILL

WE, the Senior Class of Leonia High School, in the township of Leonia, County of Bergen, and State of New Jersey, on this twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, having relapsed into a temporarily sane state of mind, and realizing that our just end is at hand, do hereby, make, declare, and publish this to be our last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all other wills made by us.

By virtue of this instrument, we duly appoint as our successors and executors the present Junior class, with instructions to carry out the terms herein according to our wishes.

To our dear enemies, the Juniors, this most superior class generously bequeaths a collection of one hundred cartoons for their United States History projects, and twenty red and green plush cushions for their seats in Mr. Suter's "Date Club." Furthermore, we leave them the distinguished honor of being ceremoniously ejected by worthy tradesmen while bravely storming them for Year Book advertisements.

To the Sophomore Class we bequeath one-tenth inspiration and nine-tenths perspiration to be used in reaching the goal we have attained.

To our poor under-grown Freshmen we leave our skill in opening the combination gym lockers.

Furthermore we bequeath:

The three precious coat hangers of Room 109 to the incoming Seniors who will arrive the earliest to benefit therefrom.

A set of automatic window-openers and window-closers to Room 106.

Several gas masks for session room students in Room 303.

Two dozen hand carved walking sticks to the Naturalist Club to aid ambitious early morning hikers.

Armando Grez's rumble seat to Wesley Vreeland and Anna Dragner.

Rosalind McCarthy's lengthy skirts to Miriam Haines.

Esther Swenson's jokes to Betty Fernalld.

Albert Bailey's brief case to Adolf Fink.

Ellsworth Lewis' hat to Chester Murphy.

Rachel Hixson's sweet disposition to Edith James.

Paula Fales' curls to Mildred Erb.

Smitho's "high hat" to Virginia Dobbs.

Roy Emptage's "ground sweeping" trousers to Clyde Lovelace.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

WILLIAM POLLOK	President
PAUL HADLEY	Vice-President
HELEN PHELPS	Secretary
JOSEPH VOLLMER	Treasurer

EACH year in the life of the Student Council there arise, besides the same standing duties of such an organization, new problems to be solved and new plans to undertaken. Among the traditional functions of this Council are, of course, those of caring for conditions in the corridors and lunch-room, arranging the assembly programs, and looking out for plans and methods of improving the school.

Chief among the new projects undertaken and completed by this year's Council were those of a Point System to distribute more widely extra-curricular activity, and an Honor Society to which members are to be chosen on the basis of athletic, scholastic, and extra-curricular activity.

The Council has been greatly indebted to the faculty committee and especially to Mr. Suter for generous cooperation and unceasing efforts to make the Student Council of 1928-29 a success.

THE LEONIAN

HELEN FISHER Editor-in-Chief
 ALBERT BAILEY Business Manager
 MISS MILDRED DOANE Faculty Adviser

IN this, its fourth year of existence, the Leonian has attempted to reach higher peaks than ever before. Its greatest triumph was the special Christmas issue, which contained six pages and was printed on green paper in honor of the holiday season.

The aim of The Leonian staff this year has been to publish a high-class paper that gives all the news in an up-to-date, interesting fashion; and that also provides for student expression through the Literature columns and special articles, and student information through the book and play review sections.

Among the special features of this year's Leonian are the pictures and biographies which have appeared in almost every issue. The special cuts for Humor, Sport, and Literature have been changed frequently to vary the appearance of the paper.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

GILBERT KAHN	President
MARION GOBBER	Vice-President
ELSIE RAPP	Secretary
HOWARD KRAUS	Treasurer
MRS. N. GAMMON	Faculty Adviser

THE Commercial Club began its third year as a club in September, 1928.

Through the efforts of a very capable program committee, the club had many enjoyable meetings. Several plays and skits were presented for the pleasure of the members and outside speakers gave them valuable information concerning the business world.

The annual birthday party came in March and proved to be very enjoyable. The club also sponsored a typing contest for a chapel program. Reorganization of the club took place at the May meeting.

The members of the club look back on the year 1928-29 with pride in their accomplishment, and forward to 1929-30 with anticipation of a year of equal enjoyment and success.

DEBATING SOCIETY

GEORGE GRIFFITHES President
 MICHAEL KELLY Vice-President
 BEULAH LINDGROVE Secretary-Treasurer
 MISS JOHNSON AND MR. TURKINGTON, Faculty Advisers

SINCE the introduction two years ago of inter-class debating, it has been the custom of the Debating Club to sponsor three debates annually. These debates are: The Freshman-Sophomore Debate; the Junior-Senior Debate; and the debate between the two winning teams of each of the other contests. This year the Senior and Sophomore teams were the winners of their respective contests and competed for the debating cup, which is awarded each year to the champion debating team.

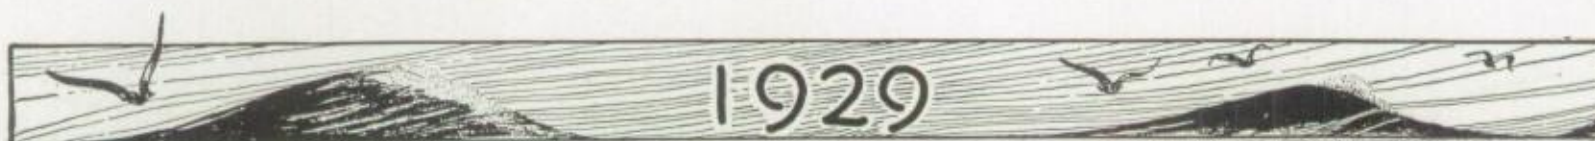

The class teams were:

Senior: Evelyn Diner, Carolyn Potter, Ellsworth Lewis.

Junior: Michael Kelly, Constance Sabatelli, Patricia Harris.

Sophomore: James Whitcomb, Beulah Lindgrove, Isabel Anderson, Douglas Jones.

Freshmen: Ruth Cash, George Brown, Leslie Lewis, Anna Maroney.

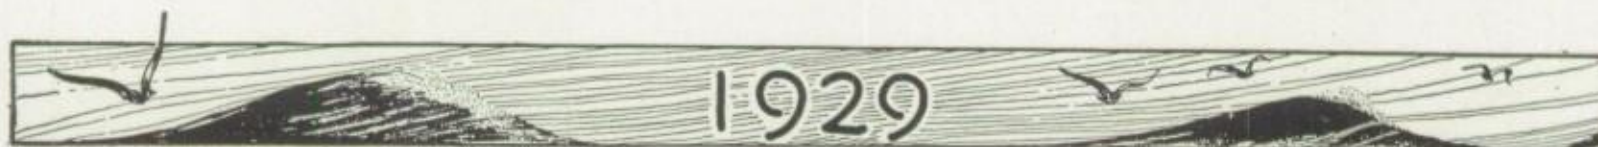

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN

THE German Club was started this year by Miss Kattmann in order to give the German students more of an opportunity to speak the German language and learn more about the German songs, games, and customs. During the first term the club was divided into two parts, one for the first year students, and the other for those taking advanced German.

The younger club met after school and played German games and sang German songs. The officers were as follows: President, Marjorie de Graff; Vice-President, Michael Kelly; Secretary, Charles Herfurth; and Treasurer, Edward Gurr.

The older club met once a month during the class period. Its officers were: President, Olga Poraske; Vice-President, Alice Farwell; Secretary, Pauline Fristensky; and Treasurer, Paul Ehrlich. The meetings were conducted entirely in German. At one meeting a very interesting debate in German was held on the subject: "Die deutschen Schulen sind den amerikanischen Schulen weit überlegen." A Christmas party was held in conjunction with the younger club. Games, songs, and typical German refreshments were very much enjoyed.

At the February meeting, it was decided to combine the two clubs.

LATIN CLUB

GEORGE GRIFFITHES	Consul
HELEN HYDE	Praetor
BETTY BAUR	Scribe
HELEN PHELPS	Quaestor
MISS KAUFMAN	Faculty Adviser

THE Latin Club had an advantage over other clubs in that it was able to start in the fall with its officers already selected. Since the club was formed in February 1928, the same officers acted throughout the first semester.

The club was founded for the purpose of promoting interest in Roman life, customs, and institutions. In order to become more intimately acquainted with Roman affairs, various projects on subjects such as libraries, religion, literature, and models were started.

In February, the reorganization of the club took place, with the election of the following officers: Consuls, Helen Hyde and Michael Kelly; Praetor, Minerva Fink; Scribe, Anna Schumacher; Quaestor, Pauline Fristensky. In March a campaign for new members was very successful.

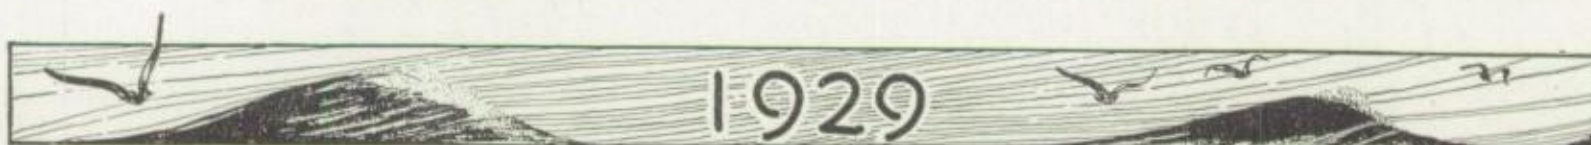

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS is a new club this year. It was started by Miss Kattmann with the purpose of acquainting the beginners of French with French customs and to enable them to use the French tongue more easily in a practical way.

At the first meeting the officers were elected as follows: Henry Muller, President; Helen Lawrence, Vice-President; Douglas Jones, Secretary; and Harry Loveman, Treasurer. At another meeting the life of Godard was reviewed and one of his compositions was played. One program was dedicated to Joffre. There was a brief biography of the famous general and then several French songs were sung. Another interesting program was the one given over to the dramatization of anecdotes, given first in French, and then in English. A Christmas party was held on December twentieth. Games and refreshments were much enjoyed.

At the end of the first semester, the club selected Helen Lawrence, President; Ruth Fisher, Vice-President; Harold Falk, Treasurer; and Douglas Jones, Secretary.

We hope that this club will continue as it has begun and will grow larger and more interesting each year.

ALTHOUGH the loss of last year's Seniors made quite a dearth of members in the Math Club, this deficiency was soon made up by new members.

The meetings of this club are sure to be interesting because of the abundance of material which comes under the classification of mathematics. The aim of the club is to be able to work out mathematical theories and tricks; to learn more about the men who have introduced and discovered them; to play mathematical games with understanding; to work the more difficult problems with ease; and to explore a little in the fields of music and astronomy. Toward this aim a new topic was discussed each meeting.

Mr. Haines, an astronomer, visited one of the meetings and entertained the group with numerous charts and lantern slides upon the stars and planets and geometrical forms in nature.

THE NATURALIST CLUB

THE Naturalist Club is an organization of nature lovers. All the members belong to the Audubon Society.

The meetings this year have been very interesting. During the first part of the year, a constitution was drawn up and ratified, and pins were chosen. The programs were given over to the initiation of the new members who gave talks on animals, plants, birds, and other interesting studies of nature. At several meetings there were talks illustrated with slides. Book reports on animals and nature jokes have been contributed to the club.

The society sponsored a chapel program on February seventh. Mr. A. H. Hadley, the national secretary of the Audubon Society and a resident of Leonia, was the speaker and showed some splendid slides.

Miss Birrell has been the adviser for the club this year. The officers for the first term were: President, James Whitcomb; Vice-President, Fay Sachs; Secretary, Blanche Irwin; and Treasurer, Electa Harper. For the second semester Fay Sachs became President and Elsie Rapp, Vice-President.

THE SPANISH CLUB

MABEL DAVIS	President
FRANK JESTER	Vice-President
MILDRED ROTTMANN	Secretary
ELLIOT MACDONALD	Treasurer
MISS WILKINS	Faculty Adviser

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL entered upon its second successful season in September. The meetings were enlivened by many various programs. A male quartette made its debut early in the year and was in great demand throughout the season. At the meetings many plays, mostly humorous, were presented by members of the club. One was selected and presented in chapel.

The annual Spanish Club dance was held on March the fifteenth.

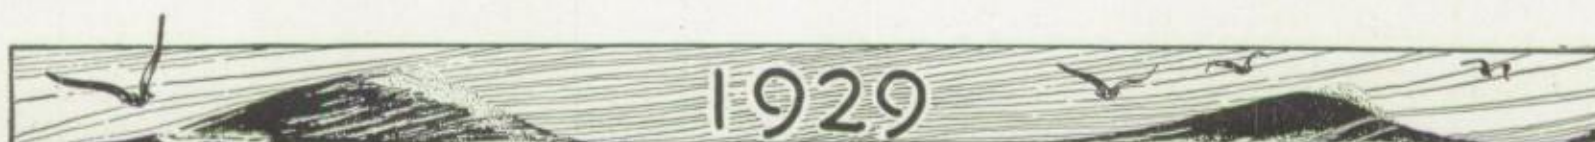

ULULATORS

WHEN the call for cheerleaders came early in the fall, there were over fifty applicants. After a few weeks of trying out this group, the regular team was finally chosen. It was ably captained by Helen Fisher and is as follows: Albert Bailey, Norma Boles, Margaret Botyos, Flora Fraser, Helen Hyde, Harry Jaffess, Leslie Lewis, Harold Lauritano, Elliott MacDonald and William Ya Deau.

This team not only has led our cheering at games enthusiastically and well, but has had charge of cheering in chapel.

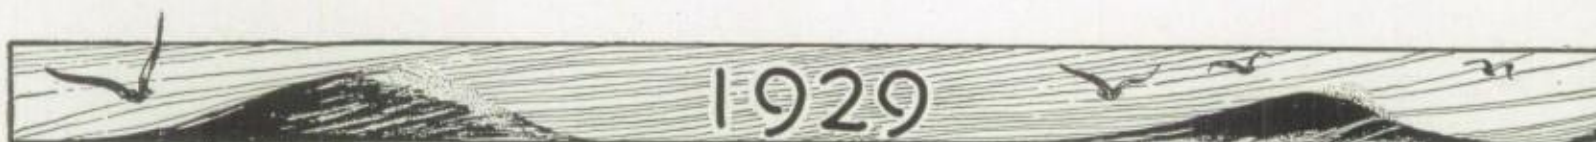

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

THE Girls' Glee Club is a large organization. Because of the many candidates for admission, Miss Bates can choose only the best singers. There are three parts: first soprano, second soprano, and alto. This year there was a regular period of practice on Friday during chapel period. Solo singing was encouraged.

The work this year has been concentrated on a long cantata, "Pan on a Summer Day," by Paul Bliss. This tells the adventures of Pan from daybreak, through a shower, a great storm, the heat of the day, to the fall of night. The club gave parts of this cantata in Assembly.

The girls sang a Thanksgiving hymn for the special Thanksgiving Assembly. A part of the year's program included a spring concert.

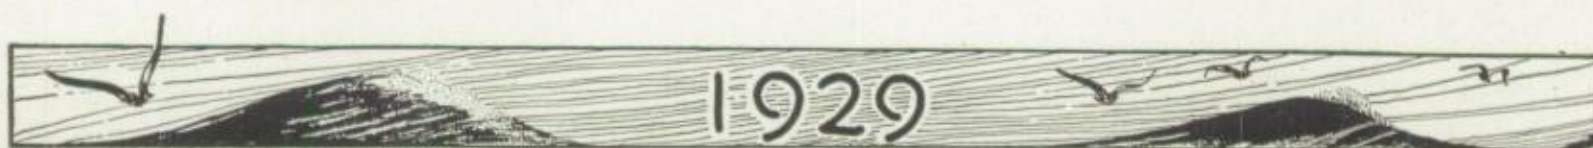

THE ORCHESTRA

LEO JAGENDORF	President
BETTY FERNALD	Vice-President
FELIX SCHLEENVOIGT	Secretary
WAYNE SKELTON	Treasurer
MISS BATES	Director

HERE were sixty people in the school orchestras this year: 34 in the Senior Orchestra, 18 in the Junior, and 8 in the Dance Orchestra. A flute has been added to the almost complete list of instruments.

The Senior and Junior Orchestras have been specializing in the classical music of great composers. The Dance Orchestra under the leadership of Walter Riley and Leo Jagendorf has furnished jazz for all the informal dances during the year.

Besides playing at the regular assemblies, the Senior Orchestra played for the Senior Play, the Book and Mask Plays, Baccalaureate, and Graduation. At times, they prepared appropriate numbers for holiday assemblies. This year also, the orchestra played in the Schubert program for the Woman's Club.

THE LIBRARY STAFF

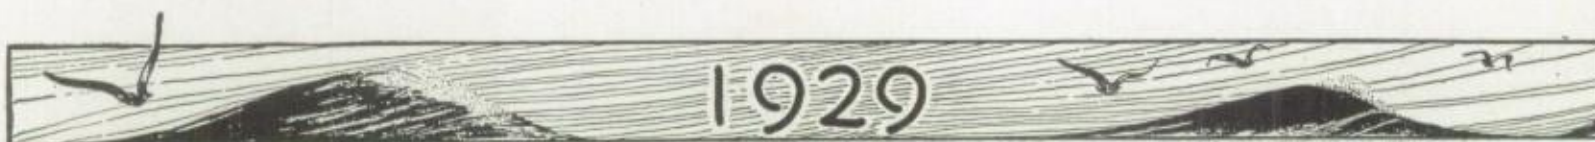

THE Library Staff this year was made up of nine girls and one boy—the staff artist—all of Junior or Senior rank.

The members of the staff assisted in taking care of the desk and cataloguing books. They mounted pictures and pieces of information for the information files, and kept the stacks and shelves in order.

To stimulate interest in the present day literature in the library, a scheme was devised whereby small posters were made and placed on the bulletin board to call attention to the leading articles in the current magazines. The circulation of books increased daily.

During the first semester, under the supervision of Miss Sutherland, the library sponsored the annual Book Report Contest in observance of Good Book Week. The first prize went to the senior representative, Helen Phelps; and second place was awarded to Michael Kelly, the junior representative.

The Staff owes much of its successful efficiency to the helpful co-operation of Mrs. Savage who came at the beginning of the second semester to fill the place left vacant by Miss Sutherland.

FIRE SQUAD

JAMES FLYNN Chief

JAMES LOWRY Assistant Chief

MR. NOLL Faculty Adviser

THE Fire Squad is formed each year for the purpose of maintaining order and discipline among the students in fire drills and in emergencies. The squad is composed of juniors and seniors and has a special equipment group which is prepared to handle the various pieces of equipment at a moment's notice. Fire drills were held regularly to familiarize the students with the necessary exits and methods of leaving the building. With the help of the squad, the school has been emptied of students in record time.

SENIOR PLAY

FOLLOWING the old tradition, the Senior Class presented a three-act comedy, "The Youngest" by Philip Barry, on November 23rd and 24th. Several weeks before the presentation of the play, Mrs. Edmondson began coaching the cast which is as follows:

RICHARD WINSLOW	Albert Bailey

SHORT speeches by the officers and staff-members marked the official opening of the A. A.-Leonian Drive on Thursday, September twenty-fifth in the presence of the Senior High assembly. The drive was brought to a close on October eleventh, with the class percentages as follows: Seniors, 100%; Juniors, 73%; Sophomores, 70%; Freshmen, 43%; and Junior High, 86%.

On Thursday afternoon, December twentieth, the annual Christmas party was held in the girls' gym. "L's" were distributed to the girls by the President and to the fellows by the vice-president. The association presented Mr. Nickerson and his wife with an electric toaster and an electric grill.

FOOTBALL

JOHN TRAUTH	Captain
SOLOMON WEIL	Manager
MR. NICKERSON	Coach

WITH only six letter men back from last year's team, the 1928 aggregation proved very weak. The gaps left, due to graduation had to be filled with "green" unseasoned material; to this fact our downfall may be largely attributed. The team was also hampered by an unusually large injured list.

Despite the handicaps, and though the season was the most disastrous in Leonia's history, the boys did not lose heart; this fine spirit is to be commended.

The only bright spots this year were: our tie game with Englewood, and our wonderful comeback in the second half of the Hackensack game. In the second half we not only held them scoreless, but also succeeded in scoring once ourselves.

With ten letter men returning, next year's prospects for a better season seem assured.

BASKETBALL

ALVIN DAVIS	Captain
HOWARD KRAUS	Manager
MR. BELL AND MR. DAVIS	Coaches

THE boys started the 1928-29 season off right; in fact, they started it off with a bang. The first two games were won and our hopes mounted. The second team also came through on top in these two games.

But then alas, the skids were put under them, and the team was defeated in every game until they played Ridgefield Park the second time. They also came through in fine form on February twelfth when they defeated Cliffside.

For the first time in years we were conceded, by the newspapers, an even chance of beating Englewood. But we were doomed to disappointment; the boys lost the game by a large margin. The basketeters then ran into another long losing streak and only succeeded in winning one more game before the season closed.

The season was a little better than last year; and as most of the first stringers are returning, the chances for more wins next year seem bright.

BASEBALL

WILLIAM LAVAC	Captain
WILLIAM MARION	Manager
MR. NICKERSON	Coach

THE candidates for the baseball team were delayed in starting practice because of bad weather. The team was shorn of most of its veterans and was composed mostly of new material.

This year for the first time in quite a while the team has been able to practice at home. This alone improved the playing quality a good deal as the coach could give more intensive training to candidates. The pitching staff was fortunate in having two veteran hurlers. The rest of the team was shaped out of green material.

Games were scheduled with the following schools: Ridgefield Park, Fort Lee, Tenafly, Ridgewood, Weehawken, Paterson, Cliffside, Newark, Rutherford, Hoboken, Passaic, Englewood and Hackensack.

TRACK

HAROLD WURTH Captain

GILBERT KAHN Manager

MR. NOLL Coach

ON February the twenty-sixth a joint meeting of the track and baseball squads was held; the coaches gave short talks on the mental as well as physical sides of these sports. The two captains also gave short talks.

The track candidates were to run together until each squad had been conditioned; they were then to split into their respective groups for specialization. The road work was postponed due to inclement weather.

In March the team seemed strong in every department, and a successful season was expected.

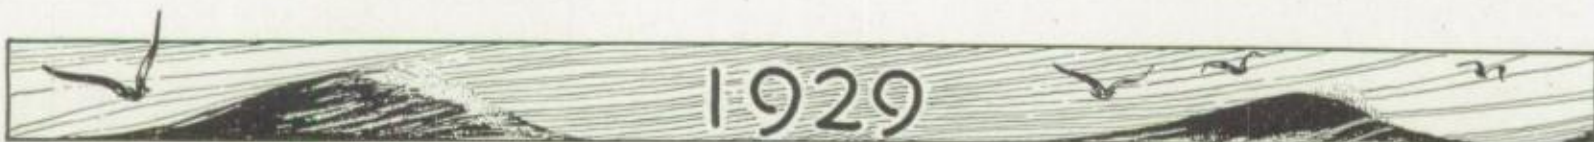

WRESTLING

MORE interest was evinced in wrestling this year than ever before. The contestants were classified according to weight, and in some classes the number of those entered was so large that quite a few preliminary matches had to be staged. The matches were held in the Boys' Gym during Chapel Period and after school.

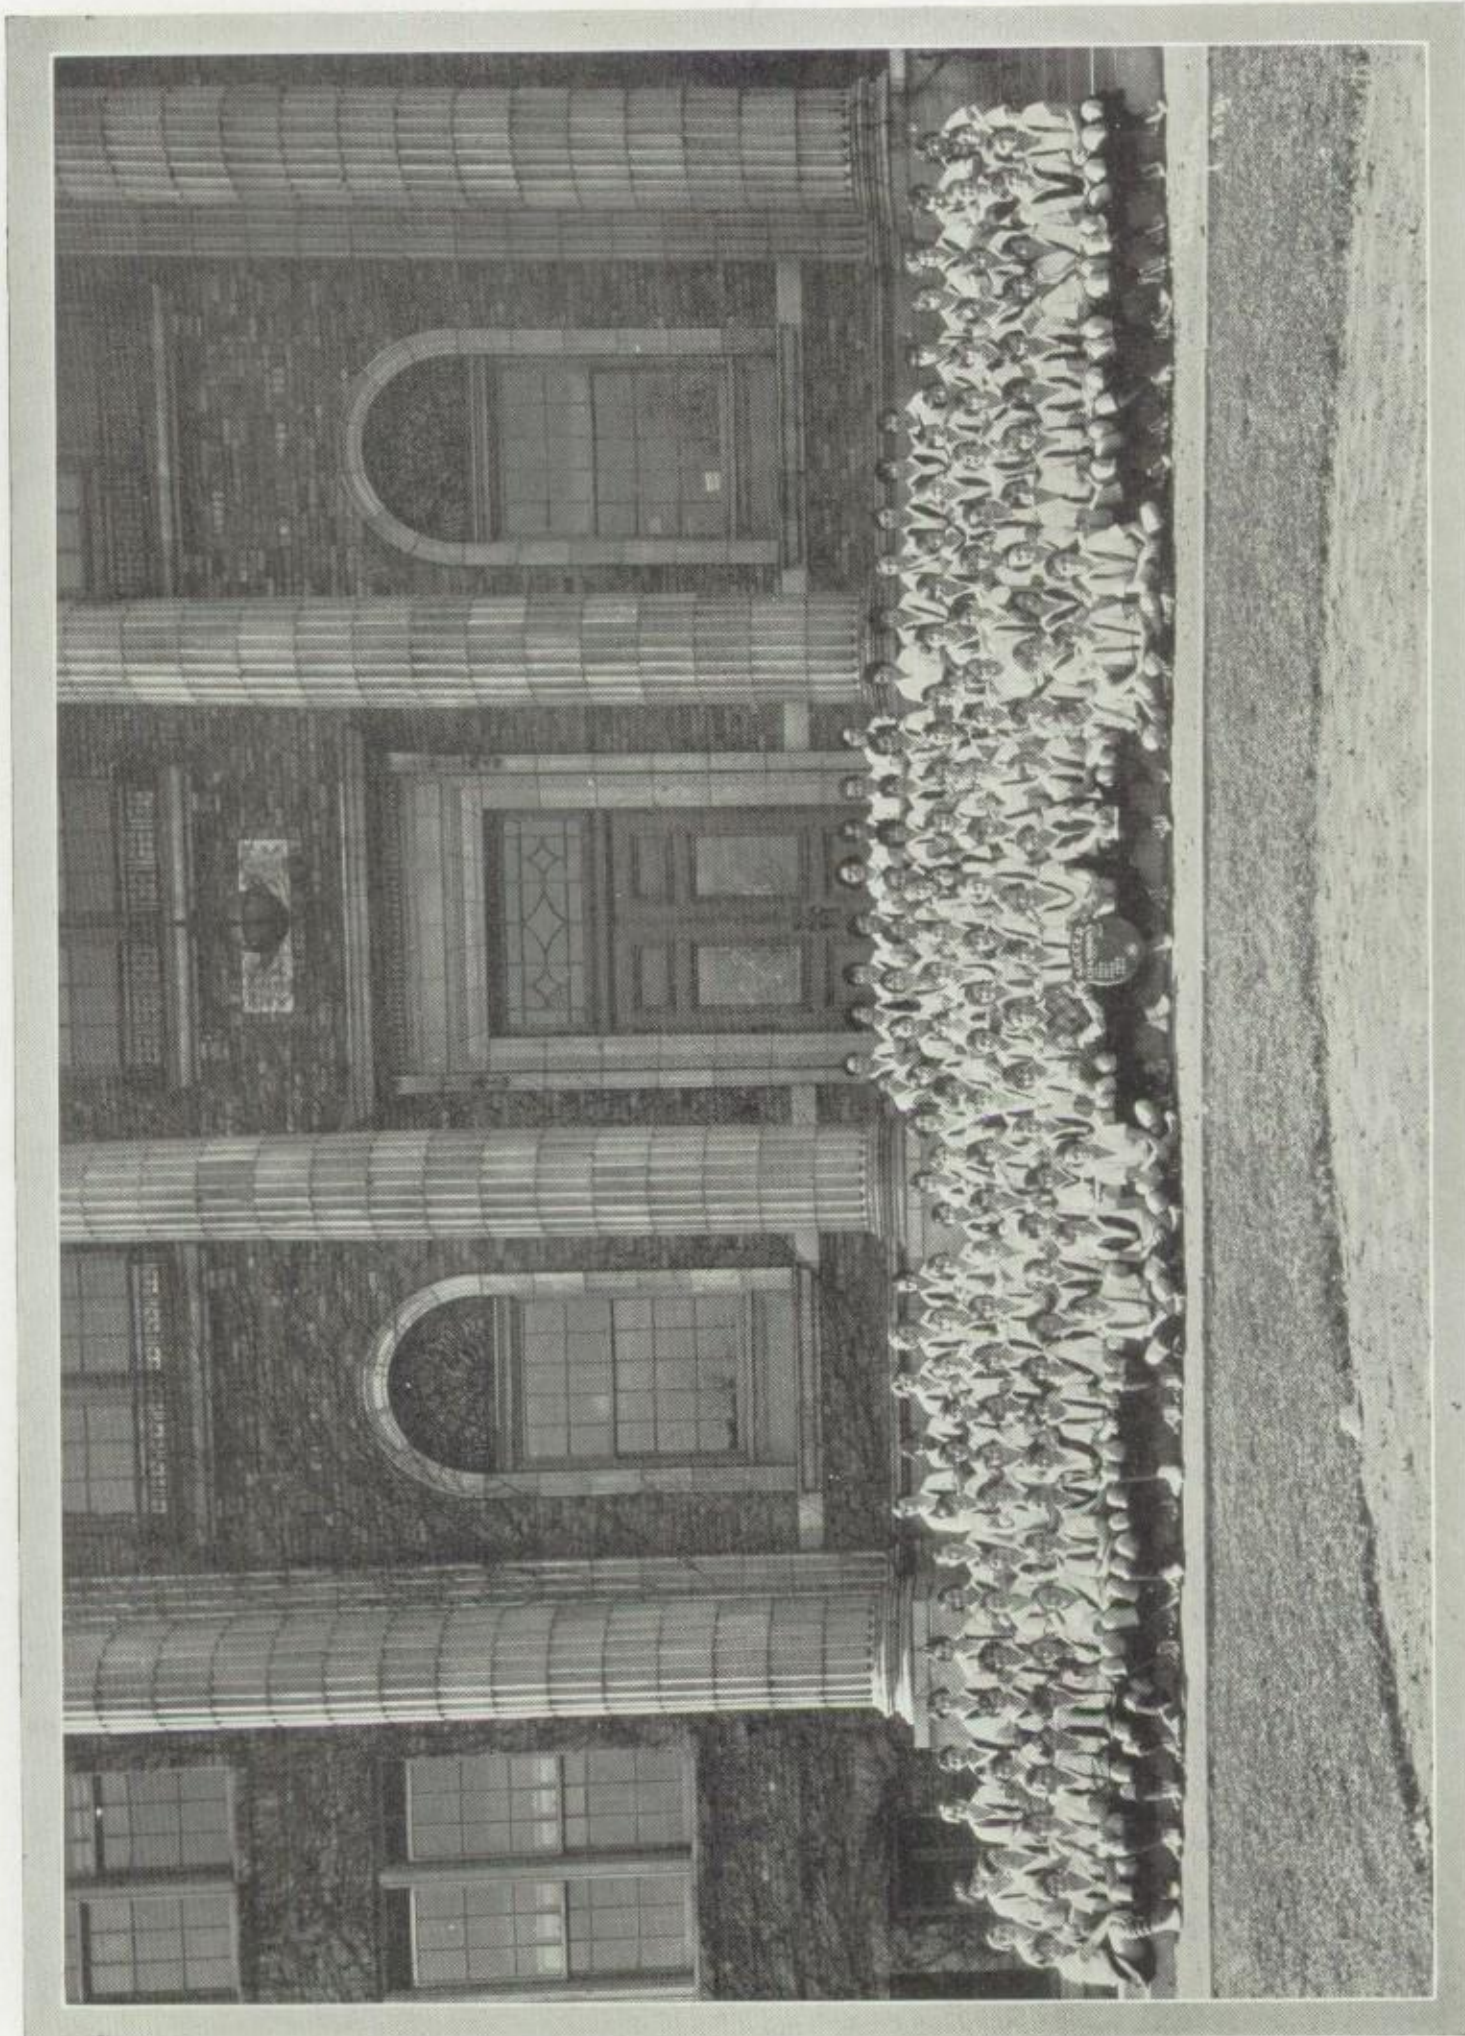

The winners of the final matches in their respective classes were: unlimited, Frank Jester; 175 pound, Mack Knock; 160 pound, Herman Scriba; 145 pound, Ralph Grippo; 135 pound, "Sal" Perline; 125 pound, William Hall; 110 pound, "Steve" McCallum; flyweight, Arnold Ochsner.

SOCCER SQUADS

SOCCER practice was begun in October, and first games were played in November. Two squads "A" and "B" were picked from each class. Olga Poraske was elected manager. The other managers were: Junior, Alice Seidel; Sophomore, Jeanne Richards; Freshman, Alice Poraske. The Senior "A" squad beat the Sophomores 1-0 and the Freshmen by the same score. The goals were made by "Midge" Appleby and Eleanor Smith. The Sophomore game was very exciting, the game ending with a 0-0 score. In the extra period the Seniors were able to win by the margin of a free kick. Others who played well were "Noyes" Lincoln, Carolyn Potter, Anna Schumacher, and "Bea" Carson.

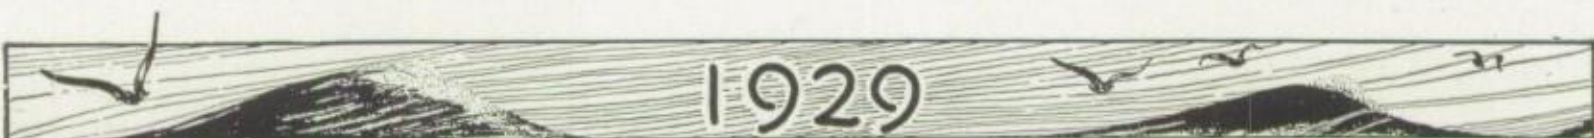

Squad "B" also won all of its games by these scores: Seniors 3, Freshmen 2; Seniors 2, Sophomores 0. Goals were made by "Letty" Harper, Anna Steenland, and Clara Hettenbach. We may not have had much snow this winter, but we certainly had some too early, for we were not able to finish the soccer games in December. Four games were postponed until spring. They have not yet been played; so no final results can now be given. Both the Juniors and Seniors have a chance to win the numerals and the championship plaque.

THE SENIOR GIRLS' ATHLETIC RECORD

WE Senior girls have had the benefit of intramural athletics throughout our four years at Leonia High. We are glad that we have all had this opportunity to participate in several sports, and we are grateful to Miss Burns, our coach, for the time and efforts she has given to teaching us these sports.

When we were "green Freshies", we were anxious and eager not only to learn to play these enjoyable games but also to beat the upperclassmen. In this we were not very successful though we showed plenty of pep and fighting spirit. After many exciting games the banners and numerals were won by the upperclassmen. During our first year in the High School we played Soccer, Field Ball, Basketball, Volley Ball, and Hockey. There were also in our class several track stars who won their numerals.

The next year, as Sophomores, we were more successful. In Soccer we tried hard, but the Seniors won both the numerals and the right to have their 1927 inscribed on the plaque, which replaced the banner. But, in Basketball our second team defeated the high and mighty Seniors. We did not play Field Ball because there was not time enough before the cold weather came on. However, one new sport was added—Baseball, which was very much enjoyed.

And now I come to our Junior year. We did not play either Soccer or Field Ball because we could not use the athletic field. The extra time was well spent in basketball practice. The Seniors won eleven games and lost one. But don't get discouraged; that one was the Junior-Senior first team game. Our wonderful Junior team "saw, met, and conquered" the Seniors. At last we had won our numerals. Servus Ball was substituted for Volley Ball. We wanted very much to win the plaque but after a close race the Seniors won out.

In the fall of 1928 we were the Seniors, the upperclassmen, very anxious to conquer the underclassmen. In the Soccer games played we came out ahead, but all of the games have not yet been played. The remaining games will be played as soon as the field can be used again. The Seniors hope to win though the Juniors also have a chance to win both the numerals and the plaque. The Basketball season was very successful as we won both the numerals and the plaque.

At this time the Servus Ball, Baseball, and Hockey games have not been played. We Seniors look forward to them with great anticipation and high hopes of victory.

WEARERS OF THE "L"

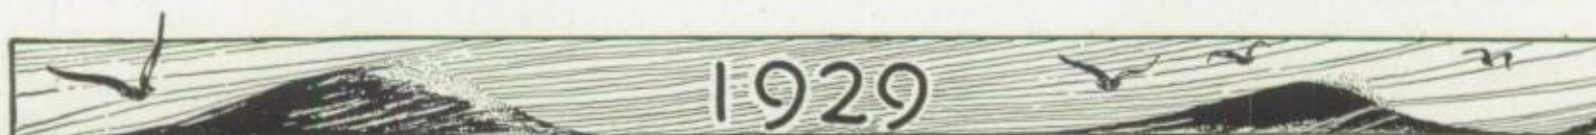

SENIOR BASKETBALL SQUAD

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL practice began after the Christmas holidays. Marjorie Appleby was our able manager. The class managers elected were: Helen Hyde, Senior; Amabelle Barbieri, Junior; Kathleen Smith, Sophomore; Martha Boling, Freshman. A new schedule was tried this year. All the fourth team games were played during the first week of the games, the third team games the next week, and so on. The best players on each team were able to play on the team higher up, thus giving some of the girls a chance to play on two or more teams.

The Senior fourth team won its Sophomore and Freshman games; but against the Juniors it was not so successful, losing by the score of 15-18. Edith Metcalfe, Fay Sachs, and Elizabeth Eastwood played especially well. The third team games were well played and very exciting. The Senior team was able to win all of its games. The playing of Margaret Boytos, Anna Fratinardo, Mary Gannon, and Clara Hettenbach is worthy of mention. The second team succumbed to the Junior menace, but against the other teams it won. Playing of "Madison" Hyde, "Bea" Carson, Helen Fisher, and Anna Schumacher must be mentioned.

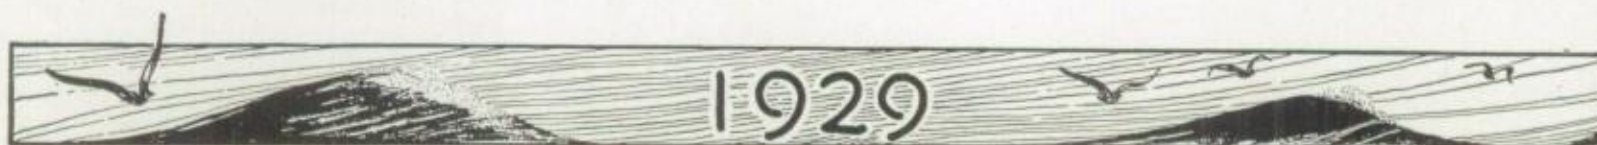

GIRLS' ATHLETIC MANAGERS

The first team beat the Sophomores and the Freshmen. On March sixth the important Senior-Junior first team game was played. It was a good, exciting game with the Seniors winning 32-16. The Juniors fought hard, and at the end of the first quarter were leading by one point. The Seniors then got the lead and were able to increase it through the good work of "Smitho," "Noyes" Lincoln, and Esther Swenson, forwards; Ethyl Gismond, Mayda Gill, centers; "Midge" Appleby, and "Cousin" Seidel, guards.

The following day the Sophomore-Freshmen game was played. The Freshmen showed great spirit, but the greater experience and skill of the Sophomores enabled them to win.

The final standing:	Won	Lost	Tied
Seniors	10	2	0
Juniors	6	5	1
Sophomores	5	7	0
Freshmen	2	9	1

ETTA BOWER

SENIOR LIMERICKS

There is a young lady named Baur
Who marvels at nature by the hour;
Yet she often writes notes;
On arguing she dotes;
Now this ends my story of Baur.

Mary Besch has a quiet way
In both her work and in her play;
This little girl is never proud,
Nor is she ever very loud.

There is a young lady named Botyos
Who does not wear any watches;
She is always late
Except on a date
With a good-looking fellow from Koches.

There is a young man named Celani,
Who is always top full of blarney.
He's always right,
But not very bright
When it comes to knowing about Liliuokalani.

There is a young man named Dalnodar
Who rides around in a Whippet car.
To school he always helps
A young lady named Phelps
Because she can't walk that far.

There is a young fellow named Roy
Whose hobby is try'n to annoy;
When Miss Culver says, "No!"
He continues to go
Right on talking. What a bad little Roy.

There is a young lady named Alice
Whose heart never ponders on malice;
She's the wittiest one
Can be found 'neath the sun,
And she's sweet as a flower's bright chalice.

There is a young miss named Gill,
She's far from being a pill,
She and her chum, Hyde,
Always go side by side,
And their favorite pickles are dill.

There is a youth known as Buster
Who will never be seen all a-fluster.
His whiskers are shaggy,
His trousers are baggy,
And he drives in a royal blue roadster.

If.....would look in the glass
Each morning ere coming to class,
She might lengthen her skirt,
So our eyes wouldn't hurt
Every time we see her knees pass.

There is a girl called Claire
Who has bright red, prickly hair.
She wears snappy clothes,
Has a cute pug nose;
This girlie whose name is Claire.

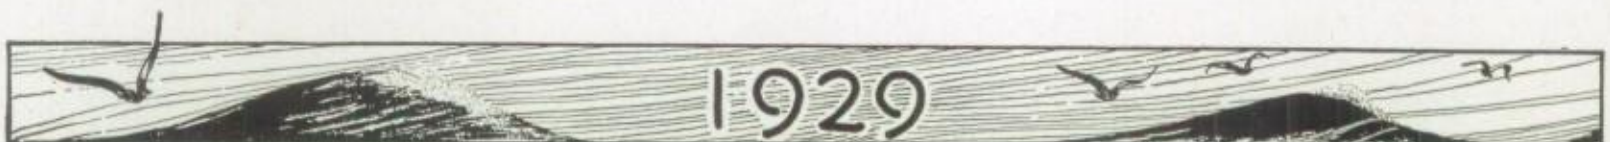

There is a guy called Perlini
Who might be a second Houdini,
He makes funny faces,
Gets out of tight places,
And everyone wonders, "How kin he?"

A girl who never does cram
Is called Elizabeth Ramm;
She is very, very bright,
And she is nearly always right
When it comes to writing an exam.

I heard a laugh the other day,
It seemed to me 'twas just this way:
It ran up the scale,
Came down with a sail;
'Twas Elsie Rapp, so blithe and gay.

There is a young lady named Ross
Who for words is never at loss;
She's the teacher's despair
But she doesn't care;
For she has Lorenzo to boss.

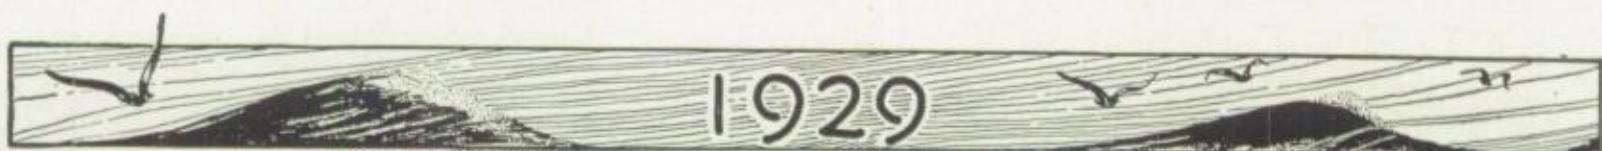

There is a young lady named Fay,
Who wears her hair different each day;
Although it's her own,
Which she never can loan,
She never can make it stay.

To High-School Graduates

Whatever you plan to do after graduation—whether you plan for college or business—your mental development must continue.

Pace Institute is a distinctive private school of professional grade. Day and evening courses in Accountancy, Business Administration, and Secretarial Practice, prepare high-school graduates for immediate earnings. Secretarial Practice includes a complete course in Shorthand and Typewriting for beginners. Many graduates who have acquired experience are now treasurers and controllers of large corporations—others are in successful Accountancy practice.

Field trips to the offices and plants of the largest organizations in New York City are a unique characteristic of the work of the Institute. The Registrar is always glad to confer with high-school graduates and their parents.

FAVORITE EXPRESSIONS OF THE FACULTY

- MISS ASSEL: "All right."
MRS. ALLEN: "Hand in your experiment."
MISS BARRY: "Now your best work, please."
MISS BATES: "Use your head for something else besides a hat rack."
MR. BELL: "Stop work and clean up."
MISS BIRREL: "I don't hear with my eyes."
MISS BURNS: "How can anybody be so dumb?"
MISS CULVER: "The bell has rung."
MR. DAVIS: "This is a study period."
MISS DOANE: "Did you put that in quotation marks?"
MRS. GAMMON: "You can't do that in business."
MISS GOODMAN: "Will you boys please let me talk?"
MISS JOHNSON: "Just a minute."
MISS KATTMAN: "Another blue day."
MISS KAUFMAN: "Yes, that is good."
MISS LAKE: "Oh dear."
MISS MAXFIELD: "For the love of the queen."
MR. NICKERSON: "Stand at attention and keep still!"
MR. NOLL: "Did you bring your dictionaries?"
MRS. SAVAGE: "Talk, but don't disturb the library."
MISS SMITH: "Come on back."
MR. SUTER: "I'll give you a clue."
MISS TAYLOR: "Girls, stop that running-fire conversation."
MR. TURKINGTON: "Ach Himmel!"
MR. UNIACKE: "Now, when I was in the Navy—."
MISS WASSON: "Don't you think we need some air?"
MISS WEIR: "Now stop that noise."
MISS WHITWELL: "Right?"
MISS WILKINS: "Hable en espanol?"

POETICAL APPRECIATION

MISS WASSON: "What colors did you notice last Saturday when the sun was shining on the sleet?"

FELIX SCHLEENVOIGT: (rubbing his elbow) "Black and blue."

FEMININE PRECAUTION

COUSIN: "Is Co a good driver?"

ESTHER: "Good?—say, when the road turns the same time as she does, it's just a coincidence!"

MISS WASSON, assigning homework in Browning to fifth period English class: "For tomorrow take 'A Tale,' and I hope you all catch on to it."

PRIDE OF POSSESSION

TURNING back the years was once a dream of fancy that the miracle of printing has since made real.

What but the printed page could perpetuate so vividly those days at school—days you will want to live again, and can, within these very covers.

Fleeting years will scatter your school day chums—classroom romances and campus gayeties may be forgotten—forgotten forever were it not that these pages have preserved imperishable those treasured memories of school day years.

What a rich possession—Your Year Book. We take great pride in the fact that it came from our printing plant. It is the production of this kind of printing that brings to our organization each year opportunities to serve many Schools and Colleges throughout the East.

Colyer Printing Co.

Sussex Ave. and Dey St.
Newark, New Jersey

IN these well lighted, comfortable surroundings you may plan your book, read proofs, make corrections and confer with our executives at any time. Here too, you will find a library of Colyer accomplishments. They will provide innumerable suggestions and prove to be of tremendous aid in making up your own book. Our "Annual" room is but another example of our earnest desire to serve you as efficiently as possible.

Every modern facility, many years of practical experience and the counsel of men well versed in every phase of printing are available.
